John liked chocolates very much, but his mother never gave him any because she thought they were bad for his teeth. His grandfather loved John very much, and he sometimes brought chocolates when he came to stay for a few days. Then John's mother let her son eat them, because she wanted to make the old man happy.

One evening, a few days before his seventh birthday, John was *praying in his bedroom. "Please, God," he shouted, "give me a big box of chocolates for my birthday on Saturday." While his mother was baking cookies in the kitchen, she heard her son shouting. She went into his bedroom and said, "Why are you shouting, John? God can hear you when you talk quietly." "I know," answered the clever boy with a smile, "but Grandfather is in the next room now. He can't hear me if I talk quietly."

*pray(ing) : 祈る
